As we discussed last week, while EPA is not formally reviewing the bench-scale test QAPP for the RM 10.9 removal action, I did ask CDM to look it over, to see if they had any input. Here are their comments:

1. The CPG should consider performing a mass balance of the contaminant mass using the sample results (both sediment and water) to ensure all mass is accounted for. This will also validate the treatment process and the analytical results.
2. Worksheet 12, Page 3 of 14 ?? Alkyl PAHs are noted on this worksheet but not mentioned on previous QAPP pages. Please verify whether Alkyl PAHs will be analyzed for in the wastewater samples.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,
Stephanie
